MARLIN RIFLE SHOOT.

Co. F of the Regulars Win by 3 Points.

In the regimental shoot for the Marlin rifle Saturday afternoon, Company F, of the Regulars, won by 3 points. Company B making the next highest score. Following were the scores in the shoot:

Company F	405
Company B	402
Company E	398
Company G	389
Company D	385

Some of the Volunteer boys are making complaints, and, in fact, all but refused to shoot in the contest Saturday on account of what they consider as shabby treatment on the part of the Regulars. The latter went to the butts at Kakaako shortly after 1 o'clock and secured themselves within. The Volunteers went down, but they were not allowed admittance to any of the stalls until 3 o'clock, or when the Regulars were good and through. They claim they should have been allowed to enter as soon as they arrived on the scene. As it was, the Regulars were shooting by themselves and had none of the Volunteer laddies to bother their heads about.

Company B had a very serious misfortune which probably cost them the Marlin trophy. It came H. S. Ewing's turn to shoot and he had laid his rifle down, when, just as he had taken hold, it went off. According to rules a "0" was marked up. He made 37 without this.

HAWAII'S SUGAR CROP.

Prof. Maxwell Gives Official Figures for Two Seasons.

Prof. Maxwell gives the following official statement of the sugar crop of the Hawaiian Islands:

Year.	No. acres of cane planted.	No. tons (2000 lbs) per acre made.	Yield sugar per acre lbs.
1895-96	55,729	227,093	8,148
1894-95	47,399½	153,419½	6,472
Increase.	8,329½	73,673½	1,676

The Hawaiian crop is, on an average, 18 months in growth, and is thus biennial when compared with the annual crops of Louisiana and beet sugar countries, which occupy the ground only nine months.

Kilauea Again Active.

The steamer Ke Au Hou which arrived Sunday brought a letter from Kau, the following extracts of which are given.

"November 25th (4 a. m.) we had a very heavy shock of earthquake here which not only awakened us from our peaceful slumbers, but rendered peace in slumber no longer possible. It was one of those old-time rumblers which come upon people without warning and go with a rumble that suggests a speedy repetition. We are thankful to be alive.

"November 24th.—Kilauea is very active. Last night fire was thrown from a cone over 100 feet high, and the reflection was seen all over the district. This is the first time any such reflection has been seen for two or three years.

"The Ke Au Hou arrived at Honouuaupoo from Honolulu on November 26th, discharged her lumber and went to Punaluu to discharge fertilizer and load sugar. Have had fine rains here since the W. G. Hall left."

FOR THE LUMBER TRADE.

Launch of the Largest Schooner Ever Built on the Coast.

The largest schooner ever built on the coast was launched from Hall Bros' ship yard at Port Blakeley, Wash., recently. She has five masts, the height of the highest being 104 feet 7 inches. The Inca, as she is called, can carry 1,400,000 feet of lumber, and on her initial trip will go from Seattle to Japan. Her gross register is 1,000 tons and net 901 tons.

GUIDES TO CHARACTER.

There is as much character in a woman's neck as in her face or hands. If it is round, white and perfectly shaped the hair should be arranged to reveal it entirely; but sometimes it is as much a composite as the face, the front or throat revealing a softness and roundness of contour, but the back being disfigured by a deep hollow at the base of the skull. This characteristic denotes strength of physique, moral and mental endurance. The deeper the cleft the greater the degree of either quality.

"The worst cold I ever had in my life was cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes W. H. Norton, of Sutter Creek, Cal. "This cold left me with a cough and I was expectorating all the time. The Remedy cured me, and I want all my friends when troubled with a cough or cold to use it, for it will do them good." Sold by all druggists and dealers. Malagasy Cookery.

Cooking being an art, every race has a style of its own. The Malagasy, like the gentle Hindoo, knows how to prepare his mess of rice. It is not boiled to a mash, as in England, or as our potatoes are sometimes pulped; but, covered with a proper sufficiency of water, it is carefully treated until the grains are swollen fit to burst, and yet remain full, intact, soft and rather mealy. The manioc root is an easier dish to prepare. It is sometimes served boiled, as yams and sweet potatoes, and again as a sort of cold porridge. Native coffee they understand how to make, and the aroma is excellent. But tea—alas, you have to look to the brewing of that from start to finish if you desire a drinkable cup. Poultry and game are eaten fresh, and the cooks have a clever and withal cleanly trick of dipping the dead animals in boiling water, which enables them to pluck easily and quickly. The preparation for dressing comes later. There is no lack of variety at a Malagasy table; but, all the same, you miss the wheat flour bread, sugar and condiments, when cloyed with rice, fowls, manioc and eggs. The staple fuel is bunch grass, which when dried burns fiercely and settles in a glowing ember that gives off a deal of heat. All the cooking is done on earthen hearths, and the roasting, boiling and baking in big iron pots. The grass being slightly aromatic, the odor is as agreeable as that of a hard wood fire.—London Telegraph.

Wonderful Figure.

Some men are hard to please, especially in their flustered and ill-natured moods. The Scottish American has a story of such a man, an Edinburgh banker.

One day, when nothing had gone to suit him, he broke out suddenly to one of the clerks in a tone like a thunder-clap:

"Look here, Jones! This won't do! These figures are a perfect disgrace. An office boy could do better. If he couldn't I'd discharge him. Look at that five, will you? It looks just like a three. Nobody would take it for anything else. Look at it, I say."

"I—er—I beg pardon, sir," began the trembling clerk. "I beg pardon, but—er—well, you see, sir, it is a three."

"A three," roared the manager, "a three! Why, you idiot, it looks just like a five!"

And the subject dropped.
